

MAREMMA, TUSCANY, ITALY - TENUTA FERTUNA

We started the harvest this year on the second week of September (2 weeks later than normal)

Harvest went well, with production 30% smaller than usual as per 2012.

With an average production of 5 tonnes per hectare we were able to produce good quality wine across the board.

This Harvest presents a normal level of Alcohol, lower than the last 4 vintages.

We feel very positive at this early stage of production, these are likely to be wines of great finesse and elegance.
